Customer Reviews

Dr. Sabine Fonderson shares her Emergency Room stories with a delightful wit and wisdom about her patients. She shows a lovely pathos for them, while also demonstrating her marvelous sense of humor at their predicaments. You'll enjoy the whimsical illustrations which accompany the text. They will make you grin and nod your head approvingly. This is a set of stories that will tickle your funny bone, and make you appreciate how insightful the author really is about emergency medical care.

Not sure why this person became a doctor??? We all realize doctors are human, with emotions and basic likes and dislikes. Excellent medical training, compassion and a bit of empathy are qualities needed by doctors. This person is too judgemental regarding patients who should or shouldn't be granted access to care.

I enjoyed this really quick read. I'm always fascinated to read about other medical professionals' experiences. As a future RN (currently I am a Pre nursing student) I wonder what I might be getting myself into. Lol
