Go! Go! Go! Stop!

Synopsis

One day Little Green rolls into town and says his first word: "Go!" The town is building a bridge, and now everyone has a job to do, from dump truck to forklift. Little Green helps them do their jobs with gusto. Until . . . there is a little too much gusto. They can go, go, go . . . but how will they stop? This bright, fun book with a bold package captures the endless energy of little boys and the timeless appeal of trucks and machines--both for building and knocking down. Plus, it has an underlying message about working together to get things done.

Customer Reviews

Toddler – Harper cleverly uses a busy construction site to introduce action words and traffic signals. The story begins with Little Green, who knows just one word – Go! When he arrives at spot where a new bridge is being built, his rousing shout, "Go! Go! Go!" accelerates the lifting, pulling, mixing, and scooping to the point that things "[get] a little crazy." Little Green doesn't know what to do until Little Red rolls along and brings everything to a screeching halt. With a bit of trial and error, they figure out how to work together and get the job done. Fun mixed-media artwork and personified lights and vehicles guarantee that this title will Go! Go! Go!

CHARISE MERICLE HARPER has written and illustrated numerous children's books, including Pink

Me Up!; Cupcake; When Randolph Turned Rotten; and the Bean Dog and Nugget series. She lives in Mamaroneck, New York, with her husband and their two children. Charise loves creating art and stories, petting her cat, drinking coffee, and eating pie.

What a fun story to teach children about "go", "stop", working together, problem solving and much more. Boys and girls loved it, asking for it repeatedly, and they enjoyed pointing out different aspects of the rich illustrations. The characterizations of the vehicles and more complex adverbs showed up in conversations long after the book was returned to the shelf. A big hit!

My 19 month Grandson loves this "go go go" book. He is very interested in the details on the pages like balloons or trucks sleeping. When we are rolling around the neighborhood in his car and we approach a light he is excited to point out what the colors mean. Even though the yellow light is only on the last page, he knows what it means too. This cute book holds the interest of my little guy who we nickname "Turbo".

This book had been instrumental in teaching my son to say stop and go (one years old). We have to read this at least three times a day if not more. Absolutely adorable and his favorite book. It is the story of little green who says go and little red who says stop. They work together to help a construction site get organized and build a bridge. Yellow is introduced on the last page.

My two-year-old daughter enjoyed repeating "Go, Go, Go, Stop!" while reading this book. While the pictures aren't Caldecott-award-winning, they are quaint and cute. The photos of the texture of concrete was enough for me to order this for a two-year-old whose dad drives a cement truck - a fun book for them to read together.

My son LOVES this book! It has become the most requested book in the house. It's so adorable. The words GO and STOP stand out from the rest of the text and are written in green and red, so he recognizes them and feels like he's reading. The story is cute and the pictures are great.

My 3-year-old son was picking this book up at the library every other week. So, I finally ordered it here and he still loves it. It's a fairly simple but cute book. Nothing profoundly amazing but cute enough and kids into vehicles will likely enjoy it as much as my son does.

I bought this for my 2-year-old nephew who is obsessed with cars, trucks, etc. His mom said they have been taking it out of the library non-stop, so they are glad to have a copy of their own now! Unlike a lot of board books, there is an actual story going on, not just one or two words per page.

My son just turned three and this book makes him beyond happy. It is simple enough that he can read it himself while still building his vocabulary. He runs around yelling, "Ugh, get off of me," expecting me to return with, "Sorry, too much go!" It has also prompted him to analyze what different symbols and lights mean. Too bad I don't always know! It also encourages him to figure out what is too little, too much, and just enough. In any event, this is a ton of fun.
