Author S.E. Schlosser has been telling stories since she was a child, when games of "let's pretend" quickly built themselves into full-length stories. A graduate of the Institute of Children's Literature and Rutgers University, she also created and maintains the website AmericanFolklore.net, where she shares a wealth of stories from all 50 states, some dating back to the origins of America. Artist Paul Hoffman trained in painting and printmaking, with his first extensive illustration work on assignment in Egypt, drawing ancient wall reliefs for the University of Chicago. His work graces books of many genres - children's titles, textbooks, short story collections, natural history volumes, and numerous cookbooks. For Spooky Georgia, he employed a scratchboard technique and an active imagination.

This held little interest to me. I am not too fond of these types of novels. I am glad that I did get to read the stories.

90% of the stories are about...."I as a ghost". Very few were about anyone specific. I may actually return it

I have really Enjoyed reading this book and I Highly Recommend it to those and others that are interested in The Civil War era!
